

The Cherry-Picking Trap in Medical Billing

Why traditional BPO quotas quietly destroy clinic collections.

The Problem: When billers are judged on claims worked per day, your highest-dollar denials get abandoned.

The Math of BPO Quotas

Human nature vs practice profitability.

- Quota Pressure: Billers must hit 50 claims/day to get green marks.
- Easy Targets: They open 0 copays and demographic typos.
- The Casualty: Complex ,800 surgical denials are pushed to the bottom of the list.

Timely Filing Expirations

The silent killer of clinic revenue.

- 90-Day Clock: Commercial payer appeal windows run out silently.
- Write-Offs: Practice is forced to write off thousands in valid care.
- False Security: BPO report still claims 100% team productivity.

Algorithmic Worklist Routing

Eliminating human discretion from claim prioritization.

- Value-Weighted: Claims dynamically prioritized by Expected Recoverable Value.
- Deadline-Driven: Impending appeal deadlines automatically escalated to senior coders.
- Automated Rework: Routine CARC/RARC codes reworked by software.

Measure Dollars, Not Headcount

Stop measuring claims touched. Start measuring net collections.

Benchmark Your Denials: Request a free 50-claim pilot review at aetherahealthcare.com